if the ban expires...

- › In most states, 18-year-olds will be able to walk into gun stores and buy new American-made AK-47s.
- › In many states, it will be possible to bring concealed TEC-9 assault pistols, loaded with thirty rounds of ammunition, into bars, churches and sports arenas, and even public schools or universities.
- › In many states kids as young as 13 will be able to buy brand new American-made AK-47s at gun shows and through the classifieds.
- › New assault weapons will be advertised over the internet.
- › New rapid-fire ammunition magazines that allow guns to fire up to 100 rounds without reloading will be mass-produced and sold on a cash-and-carry basis to anyone, with no questions or background

Five Assault Weapons that will be legal on Sept. 14th (Unless the Assault Weapons Ban is renewed.)

1. Colt AR-15

Manufactured by Colt Industries of Hartford, CT. It's the civilian version of the company's M-16 machine gun used by the U.S. military and some law enforcement agencies. A gas-operated, magazine-fed weapon, it's still general-issue in the armed forces, which adopted it because of its ability to spray a high volume of ammunition within a distance of 100 meters. It is 39 inches long and comes with a 5-round magazine but can accept higher-capacity magazines.

Crimes and murders:

- Sept. 25, 1982: 13 people killed in Wilkes-Barre, PA, by man using an AR-15.
- July 1988: Man kills police officer in Manassas, VA using AR-15
- October 13, 1992: seven-year-old boy on his way to school fatally shot by a sniper with an AR-15 in the Cabrini-Green housing project in Chicago.
- Oct 30, 1993: 9-year-old girl died in El Cajon, CA when a man with an AR-15 began firing from his second-story window

2. AK-47

Ban. Our goal is to send President Bush and Congress a message with a million names.

The National Rifle Association has compiled a list of

The Kalashnikov rifle, also known generally as the AK-47, was developed in the Soviet Union in 1947. Semi-automatic versions of a Chinese model were imported in large numbers into the United States until 1989. These Chinese versions were produced by POLY Technologies and distributed in the United States by PTK International, Inc. The weapon is 34 3/8 inches long, and can accept 20-, 30-, 40- and 75-round magazines. Before the assault weapons ban was put in place, AK-47's could be purchased for as little as $300.

Manufactured by Israeli Military Industries, the 9mm UZI was designed in the early 1950s by Army Major Uziel Gal. In 1979, a semi-automatic version was first imported to the United States for civilian sale by Action Arms of Philadelphia. The UZI semi-auto carbine has an overall length of 24.4 inches with its stock folded, 31.5 with the stock open and comes with a standard 25-round magazine. In 1984, the company introduced the UZI pistol, which has an overall length of 9.45 inches. In 1987, Israeli Military Industries introduced the Mini-UZI carbine, which with its stock folded has an overall length of 26.1 inches, 35.75 with the stock unfolded.

Crimes and murders:

- Aug. 10, 1989: Police arrest man carrying an Uzi after he sprays a lower Manhattan street with gunfire, injuring a 69-year-old man
- June 26, 1989: One man killed and three wounded in a shootout in the Bronx involving an Uzi and another submachine gun.
- Feb. 11, 1991: 20-year-old man killed at party by man carrying Uzi in New York City
- April 29, 1991: Police officer shot in face by Uzi-carrying robbers in Jersey City
- October 11, 1992: Uzi-carrying postal clerk seeking revenge for being fired kills four people in Ridgewood, NJ.
- Nov. 19, 1992: Ex-police officer shot to death by Uzi fire in a robbery in an electronics store in Manhattan
- May 25, 1993: In a gun battle between rival gangs in Teaneck, NJ, three were killed and two were wounded. Police recovered an Uzi from the crime.
- Sept 17, 1993: Police arrest a recently paroled killer with a loaded Uzi in Pennsauken, NJ
- Nov 14, 1994: used in a shootout that killed a police officer in San Francisco
- July 1984: Man kills 21 and wounds 19 using an Uzi at a McDonald's in San Ysidro, CA.

4. MAC-10, MAC-11

Semiautomatic assault pistol designed as a variant of submachine gun. Developed in 1969 by Gordon Ingram of the Military Armament Company (MAC) in Powder Springs, Georgia. The MAC-10 is a recoil-operated gun, compact and capable of delivering a high rate of fire. However its light weight gives it marginal accuracy and a short effective range. Used by military in building sweeps and inside-vehicle operations -- the Israeli army uses this weapon in Aircraft hijack rescues.

Crimes and murders:

- April 28, 1983: A paid hit man kills two witnesses in a federal narcotics case using a MAC-11
- June 1984: Radio talk-show host killed by right-wing extremists using a MAC-10 in Denver, Colorado.
- August 26, 1985: Hired hit men murder a man in suburban Atlanta using a MAC-11.
- 1988: Jewel thieves fire 31 rounds into a police car while being pursued after a robbery in Boca Raton, Fla.
- Jan. 2, 1990: MAC-10 used in an attempted drive-by assassination of the Camden, N.J. county prosecutor
- June 13, 1990: MAC-10 used by bank robbers in New York City. Bank guard wounded.
- October 1992: MAC-10 used by bank robbers in Sykesville, MD to kill two bank tellers.
- Oct. 21, 1993: MAC-10 used in a drive-by shooting to kill a 47-year-old man in Queens, NY.
- March 30, 1994: Houston police officer seriously wounded by a criminal armed with a Mac-11
- April 26, 1995: Maryland police officer shot to death with a MAC-11 assault pistol in a liquor store parking lot.

5. TEC-9, TEC-DC9

The Tec-9 and its variants differ from conventional handguns because its large-capacity detachable magazine helps provide a level of firepower "associated with military or police, not civilian, shooting requirements," according to firearms expert Leonard J. Supenski. The weapon is "completely useless" for hunting, is never used by competitive or recreational shooters and "has no legitimate sporting use," he says.

Crimes and murders:

- July 2, 1993: TEC-DC9 used by Gian Luigi Ferri to kill 8 and wound six in a workplace shooting in San Francisco
- April 25, 1994: TEC-9 used to fire at police officers in Brooklyn when an undercover drug deal went awry.
- June 15, 1994: TEC-9 used by man to shoot his ex-girlfriend in Buffalo, NY
- Nov. 22, 1994: a man with a TEC-9 killed 3 law enforcement officers at Washington, D.C. police headquarters.
